

Going For The Gold

Whistler, BC was born on an Olympic dream. Franz Wilhelmsen, the man who opened Whistler for skiing in the 1960's, did so in the hopes of hosting the Games here. Now, in 275 days everyone in will have an opportunity to share in Olympic Gold in Whistler, British Columbia including Unilux and its representative Murray Mechanical Sales. Unilux helped to fill the huge demand for luxury housing anticipated for the olympic sized crowds via the recently completed Four Seasons Resort. The 242-suite Four Seasons Resort Whistler will be the first Four Seasons development where suites will be fully owned by private purchasers and managed on their behalf by the hotel group. Inside Four Seasons Resort Whistler: Suites range in size from 590 to 2,900 sq. ft. including; King Suites, Presidential Suites, and 2-level Townhomes are comfort controlled by (3) ZF800W Unilux Water Boilers. Bid as an "as equal" Unilux was picked for this prestigious project not because they were the low bidder but because contractor Georgia Mechanical Systems Ltd. of Richmond BC, picked Unilux as the supplier they most preferred to work with. Unilux was also a favorite of project engineer MCW Consulting of Vancouver BC, because of their reputation coming from have supplied (3) ZF1400HS for Canadian Place the landmark all-in-one convention center. On-time delivery, expert start-up and professional service at all levels, makes Murray Mechanical and Unilux our bet for multiple gold medal achievements in their field of action. Whistler and Vancouver will be Host Cities for the XXI Winter Games in 2010, scheduled to take place February 12 to February 28, 2010. Whistle, BC will host alpine skiing, Nordic and paralympic sports events.
